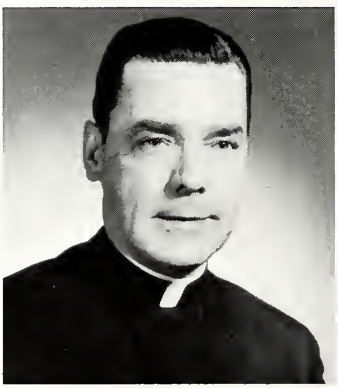
Father Muldoon Leaves Competent Staff.

Bishop Dwenger High School owes a debt of gratitude to Father Donald Muldoon, former business manager of the office staff who has accepted a position as chancellor of the Diocese of Fort Wayne-South Bend. Business affairs were kept in good order during the years which Father spent at the school. Father Muldoon had the gigantic task of supervising all the monetary concerns since the beginning of the High School until January of this year when he was assigned to his new post. The student body, therefore, offers its deepest gratitude to Father, wishes him much success in the work which he is now doing, and says a fond farewell.



Fr. Donald Muldoon

Activities in Bishop Dwenger's general office are supervised by Sister Melanie and Sister Annella (not in picture) as head of the office staff. Besides the duties of typing and answering phone calls, the sisters are kept in constant demand by students seeking various business transactions.

The Faculty Is a Needed Asset at Lunch.

Mr. Kunkle, cafeteria supervisor informs students that there are three minutes left in the lunch period!

During the two sessions of each lunch period, faculty members supervise students who are at that time in the cafeteria, as well as those who are having "play day." So-called by the students, "play day" consists of games of volleyball, basketball or other like activities in which students are able to exercise muscles or leave off excess energy accumulated during the morning classes. Cafeteria supervision aids in general maintenance and facilitates movement to and from the academic area. Other faculty members eat lunch in the faculty dining room adjoining the cafeteria.

Academic Goals.

One of the most regularly held meetings during the school year is that of the faculty. During their monthly gatherings, faculty members discuss various problems of the school and organize coming events. The organization works in conjunction with the administration and the Student Council to insure the smoothe operation of the school system. Father Edward Krason, Principal, presides at meetings.

Faculty members discuss school policies, establish the philosophy of the school and determine the procedures of various activities. At some meetings an improved curriculum is often a topic of general discussion. Faculty members also form various committees concerning handbook revision, the choice of recommended students for the National Honor Society, and policies set up by the Executive Council.

Faculty members also form the Council proper. Chaired by Father Krason, other members of the Executive Council are Fr. Kline, Fr. Pfister, Sr. Hedwigis, Sr. Jeanne, Mr. R. Schreiber, Mr. R. Krouse and Mrs. A. Stearns.

Father Krason, Principal, prepares to open a monthly faculty meeting at Bishop Dwenger High School.

Bishop Dwenger's faculty proved to be victorious again in their defeat of the WOWO Aces of the Air. No amount of clowning could keep the "boys" from scoring consistently throughout the game. The faculty's great interest in competitive basketball began last year when they won their first game against WOWO, so that this victory was a contributing factor to the wonderful spirit shown in this year's rematch. Hopes are high that the faculty continues its annual triumphs!

Cafeteria and maintenance staffs compose a major and very necessary part of the daily routine at Bishop Dwenger.

The cafeteria staff, headed by Mrs. Annabel Gee, provides the students with nourishing lunches.

The Maintenance crew, directed by Mr. Eugene Karst, labor in the upkeep of school property.

Far upper left: Mr. Eugene Karst, chief maintenance superintendent, is responsible for a variety of duties, including general caretaking at B.D. and keeping records of school expenditures. Far upper left: The cafeteria is always a busy place. This is proved even after school hours when Mrs. Margaret Hoffman prepares meals for four resident priests.

Left: Good food is always needed to keep everyone happy. Without these five wonderful cooks, Mrs. Marge Epple, Mrs. Sharon Strack, Mrs. Jack Blessing, Mrs. Annabel Gee, cafeteria head, Mrs. Crescentia Bonifas, this would not be possible. Meals are varied, nourishing.

Above: The maintenance crew, consisting of Mr. Bud VanAllen, Louie Esquivel, Mark Strack, Charlie Strack, Rod Gunkle assist Mr. Karst with the busy job of keeping the school and its grounds in good order at all times.

HARCOURT, BRACE
HEMISTRY

During the past school year many students from Bishop Dwenger have volunteered their time and effort tutoring the grade school pupils at St. Mary's. Suzanne Cabler and Michael Bassett exemplify this.

This years mixed retreat brought students together in a more unified manner. Engaged in one of the "unified" discussions are Donna Busche, Lynne Schele, Mike Smether, Anne Babet, and Tom Jones.

Religion Plays Major Part in Saints' Lives.

At a Catholic school such as Dwenger Christianity plays a major role in the lives of Students. Religion is not emphasized as a course of study, but as a way of life.

The course itself could not be considered "challenging" as a Math IV class is "challenging," but the practice of its teachings provides students with an experience in the development of Christian attitudes.

These experiences did not end in the tutoring corps at St. Mary's grade school. Others spent many hours doing volunteer work in the St. Anne's home.

"Youth is a time for living" and we are thankful for the opportunity to learn the ethics of Christian living.

English Program Stresses Literary Analyses,

English II students, Pat McKenzie and Cathy Butz find humor in satirical writings in literature books.

Below: Mr. Patten's seminar class finds several philosophies of literature amusing but confusing.

Increased Reading, Writing, Vocabulary Skills.

English, one of the basic courses, is offered to all students, not only in the form of a language, but also in the nature of a study of mankind. By analysing and discussing literature in the classroom, each teacher strives to fullfill the need of the student toward a better understanding of himself.

The literature study consists of the short story, poetry, the novel, and drama from the American, English, and other great writers. Another course which is offered is journalism, in which teachers strive to instill the basic techniques of journalistic writing and editorials.

Sr. Angelene and Mr. Patten co-chair this department, which includes developmental reading and courses in the humanities; that is, literature in a world focus, drama, and art appreciation.

Below: Students take advantage of the reading lab in order to improve their reading skills and abilities.

English, Speed Reading Challenge Students.

Below: Dennis Hatfield and Mary Kanney listen to one another's German conversations.

In Sister Cabrini's Spanish class the girls learn Spanish names for a table setting.

German Offer Insight into Old Cultures.

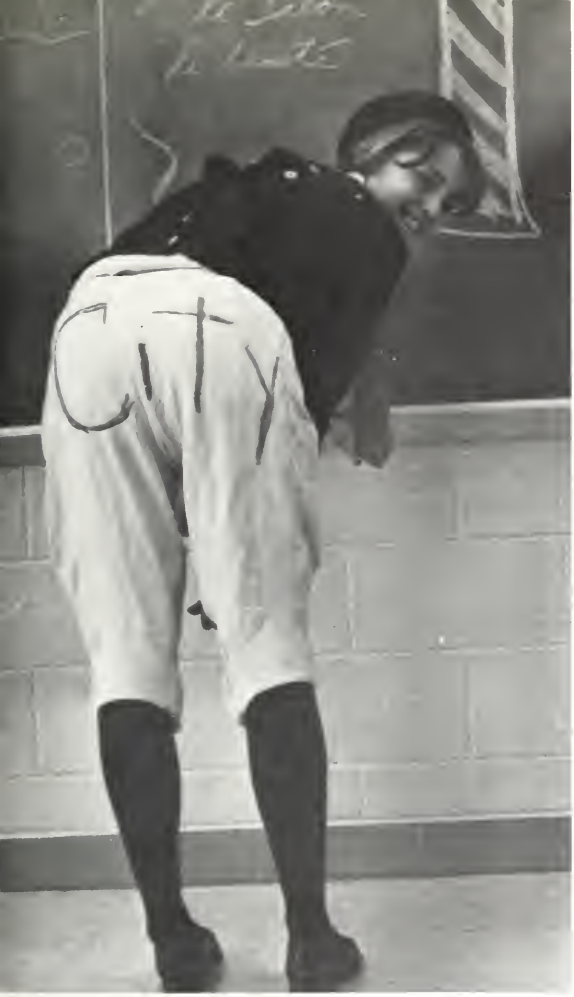
Father Kauffman teaches vocabulary skills through the use of many visual aids whenever this is possible.

The modern and classical language department, headed by Father Isenbarger and Sister Myra, consists of French, Spanish, German and Latin. The various courses offer the student, not only skill in pronunciation and grammar, but also a basic knowledge of the literature and the culture of the respective country.

The modern languages, French, Spanish and German are taught by Sister Myra, Miss Purvis, Father Kauffman and Sister Cabrini, and Sister Alberta respectively. Each teacher conscientiously strives to acquaint the students with the language and to instill in them the desire to achieve a broader interest in it.

Father Isenbarger and Sister Alberta teach the Latin, presenting students with the works of great Roman writers from Caesar to Virgil.

Language Aids Students' Perception.



Far upper left: The Latin banquet proved to be a great success as exemplified by Sister Alberta.

Far lower left: Fights and friendship erupt in French class between Mary Sue Ueber, Debbie Lucker, Angelica Reitzug and Mary Liebermann.

Lower center: It's exciting! It's enjoyable! It's easy! No, it's Latin. The hardships of Latin were alleviated by the new language lab installed this year. Tim Miller and Dan Strack demonstrate teh equipment.

Below: A smiling Angelica Reitzug demonstrates the French woman's pleasantry, even under the rigors of French class.

Below: Mr. Meade assists Donna Boyle is an exceptionally difficult algebra problem.

Upper right: Katie Root demonstrates her math ability for the rest of the class in math I.

Math problems pose difficulties for Pamela Bercot and Karen Brown.

Earnest Study in Math Effects Inspiring Results.

Below: Rick Boylan, J. Rennecker and D. McClaren diligently work on mechanical drawing project.

Mathematics courses, ranging from basic first year math to intrinsic math four, are offered to Dwenger students who intend to pursue math as a future career, or who will use it as a basic study in a different field.

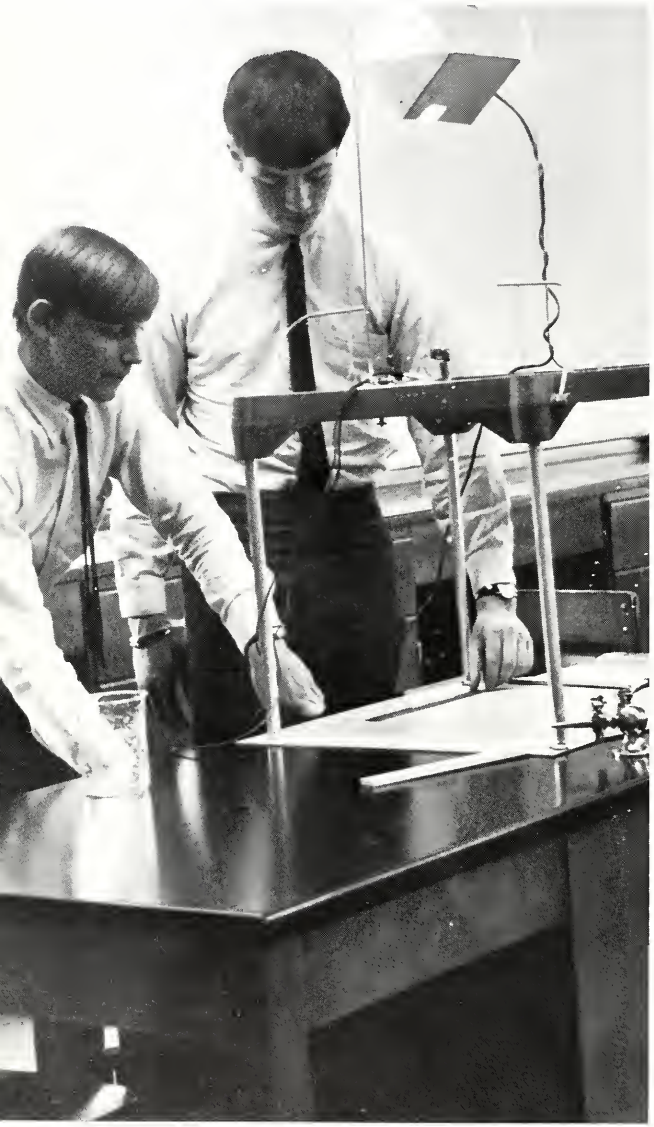
Math I, including math essentials and algebra, was designed to provide a firm understanding of modern mathematical concepts.

Math II consists of plane, solid and coordinate geometry and emphasizes a logical approach to understanding structures of proofs. This course is geared for college-bound students and those who intend to challenge themselves in math III.

Math III is an integrated course in algebra and trigonometry. This course treats of four functions, polynomial, trigonomial, exponential and logarithmic.

Math IV, basically a review of previous math courses, is a preparation for the college-bound. Teachers in this four-year study are: Sr. Maurice, Sr. Maris, Mrs. Hobson, Dr. Gladys Ruiz, Mr. Meade and Mr. Thompson.

Students Become Observant Scientists.



Mike Simmons and Bill Wilkinson ponder over a challenging physics problem.

The science department contains four main branches: biology, chemistry, earth science, and physics. Mrs. Arlyce Stearns and Mr. George Waning are the co-chairmen of this department.

Biology, the only required science course, consists of investigation into the cell, the tissues, the human body, and the biosphere. This knowledge is acquired through lectures and lab work.

Chemistry, another "lab" science, acquaints the students with the fundamental principles of modern chemistry and a basic understanding of the atomic theory in science.

The formation and the evolution of the earth is the basic study in an earth science class. Students are able to further their interests by doing outside research for individual projects.

Physics offers the science student an opportunity to acquire a basic understanding of applied mathematics through extensive laboratory work.

Denny Jensen concentrates on a Physics problem.

Students Develop Awareness in Science.

Right: Bill McDonald obtains water for a Chemistry experiment.

Below: De Etta White and Joanie Bojrab plan ahead by practicing secretarial work.

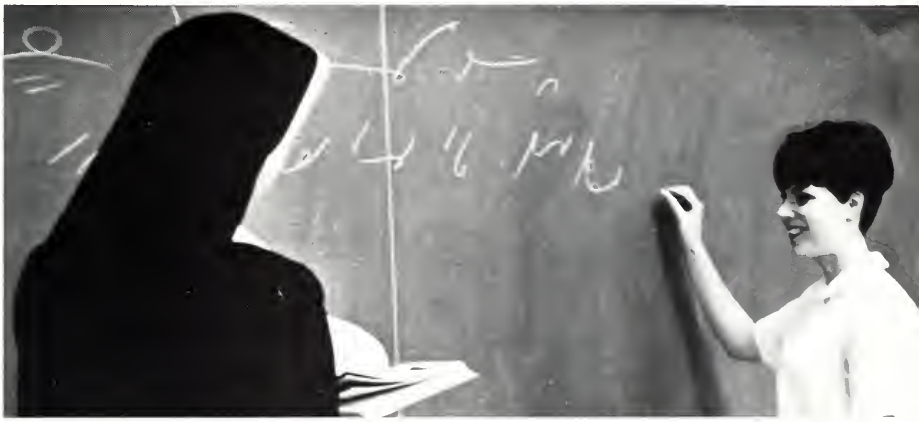
The business department, under the direction of Sr. Carmen, Sr. Michaela and Mr. Krouse, aims to develop individuals who are wise and skilled in selecting and using the goods and the services of the business world. Typing, shorthand, office practice and bookkeeping are the four branches which are taught in the business area.

Typing consists of first and second year typing and personal typing. Students learn basic skills and techniques which will benefit them either in a career or for their own personal use.

Shorthand offers students the opportunity for a future business career by aiding them to take rapid and accurate dictation and transcriptions.

Office practice and bookkeeping familiarizes the business student with the various office machines, as well as other equipment and its use, along with the basic principles of accounting.

Above: The bookkeeping class concentrates on how to keep books!



Shorthand comes easily to Diane Brown when she is assisted by Sr. Carmen.

Above: Sister Carmen and Linda Balbaugh carefully observe the growth in economics.

Janet Steger leads discussion in American history class.

Social Studies

Below: Mr. Bart seems to be a bit doubtful about Jim Burns' map knowledge.

Broaden Students' Outlooks.

World and American history, economics, and government make up the social studies curriculum. This department, under the guidance of Sister Maurice and Mr. Krouse, offers the students a detailed study of world and American history, of the basic elements of economics, and of the nature and structure of government.

The world history course includes the study of all the important world civilizations. The American history course provides the student with an overall glance at U.S. history from its colonial period until the present.

Economics, a semester elective, is the study of the basic elements from production to consumption. Students apply their knowledge through projects such as touring the International Harvester Corporation.

Government is a required semester course, which includes the study of Federal, state and local governments. Students this year viewed the judicial structure of the government when they attended an actual court session.

Home Economics Promotes Ingenuity

Far upper left: Marita Bradtmueller, using a new "touch and sew" machine, creates one of the original fashions in clothing class.

Left center: A home economics class learns a variety of things, including food preparation and nutrition. The girls are examining their assignment for the day in the cheery kitchen.

Through Food, Fun and Fashions

Foods, clothing and family living courses constitute the home economics department under the direction of Sister Eleanora. Each of these courses strives to promote activities in fields of real practical experience, either for the student's own benefit or as a basis for a future career in this particularly fascinating field.

Classes in foods are so designed to give the students all the basic techniques and skills necessary for economical buying and cooking.

Clothing classes aid students in developing the basic skills needed to appraise and construct garments according to the latest fashions and styles.

Family living gives the students interested in home-making the practical experience to become effective as housewives and mothers. Tailoring and chef education are new additions which will be offered to interested young men in the next school year.

Art Students Express Inner Feelings.

The Department of Art, under the direction of Sr. Angelene, offers the art student an opportunity to acquire a basic knowledge of the arts and crafts through lecture and through creative participation in art experiences.

The art classes are organized so that each student interprets what he is taught through creative and imaginative experiments. These experiments include projects on flat planes, surface decoration, three-dimensional design and construction, as well as lettering techniques.

Left: Hard at work on his construction, Bill Wolters accomplishes the right contour.

Below: Two advanced art students, Linda Lehman and Mary Modezjewski, examine their individual totetrays in which art supplies are kept.

Upper left: Dave Hensler and Bill Herbert work diligently on their masterpieces of ceramic sculptures.

Lower left: Watching the techniques of the Art teacher, Sister Angelene, Lois Derheimer wonders if she'll ever be able to make her ceramic piece look like a bowl instead of an ashtray.

Above: Joan Rennecker, Terry Duck, and Mike Minnick labor painstakingly on their sculpture projects to perfect them.

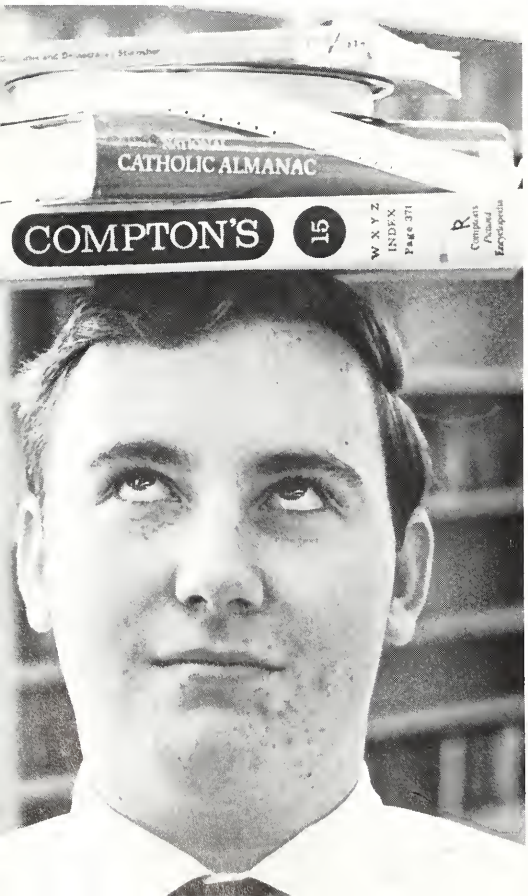
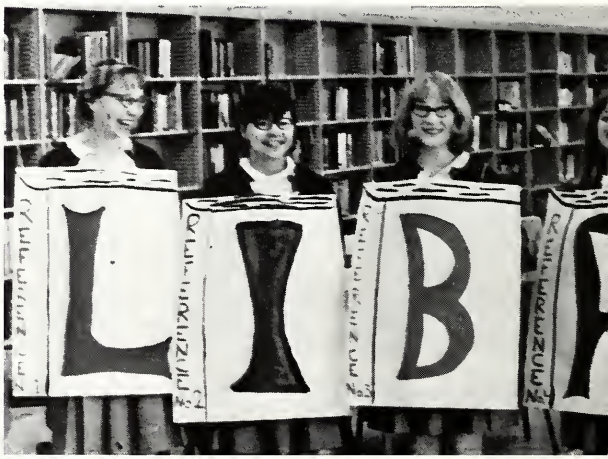
Below: Library assistants appear to be wrapped up in work.

Left: For Mike Ernst, it's not mind over matter, but matter over mind.

Upper right: Sister Jeanne adds the finishing touches to the studious surroundings.

Lower right: Dan Dirig takes advantage of library reference materials.





Library Serves as Storehouse of Knowledge

The library, under the direction of Sr. Jeanne, is the heart of academic life. This center provides an academic atmosphere for research and browsing. Many improvements have been made to insure the best possible facilities for all Bishop Dwenger students. Among these are: a stereo hi-fi to provide mood music; carrels or private study areas; many new volumes for both research and enjoyment.

A major branch of the library is the audio-visual center which provides a variety of equipment for faculty use in the classroom and for individual student needs. Mr. Kunkle, as administrative aid, directs this branch of the Instructional Materials Center.

The library and A-V Club trains responsible students as library assistants. Their services are utilized not only in the library proper, but also in the classrooms in the operation and maintenance of A-V machines and in aiding other students in library procedures.

Marc Meyer, Bob Franz, Tim Kern, Pat Murray and Mike Minick burst boisterously into the locker room for another exuberating class.

Below: John Wilkinson struggles to attain new heights during boys' seventh period physical education class. By accomplishing this feat they are developing strength, co-ordination and stamina.

Physical Education

The department of physical education is headed by Mr. Haag as athletic director. He is assisted by Mr. Titzer and Mrs. Kathlene Meyers. The aim of the department is to develop physical stamina in conjunction with the expected mental development of the students.

The girls' physical education classes, directed by Mrs. Meyers includes such sports as basketball, soccer, volleyball and softball. Individual sports are golf, tennis and modern dancing, as well as field and track events. All this activity provides the students with many opportunities to acquire social grace and physical poise.

Mr. Titzer directs the boys in group activities designed to develop speed, strength, agility and muscular endurance. Most of the sports are based on a seasonal standing. Touch football, soccer, tumbling, basketball and track, as well as co-recreational dancing are all a part of this physical fitness program.

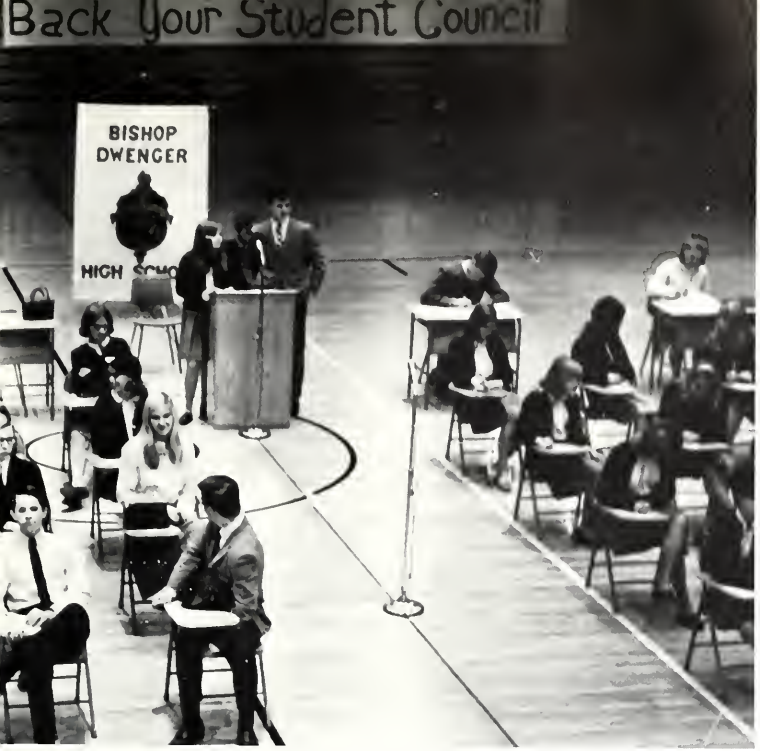
Sr. Carmen, Mary Sue Ueber, and Mr. Patten pile packages for the Ethiopien Project undertaken by the student body. The endeavor, initiated by Mr. Patten, was a successful one due to the industrious efforts of every homeroom.

Student Council Benefits Saints.

Bishop Dwenger's governing body for the 67-68 school year was headed by President Mike Arata who presided over all the meetings. Jim Rissing, the boy's Vice-President, and Margie Stack, the girl's Vice-President, each showed their ability of leadership by representing their respective sections of the school. Recording the minutes for all of the meetings was the secretary, Marianne Anderson. Mike Woods held the office of treasurer, handling all the money matters. The Parliamentarian, Steve Rissing, kept the meetings in proper order. Each individual had a voice in the Council through their homeroom representative. The Saints were proud of the achievements of this worthwhile organization.



"Supporting their interest and backing their Student Council," the S.C. officers and representatives assemble before Dwengerites. The object of this assembly was to initiate Student Council week, February 6-10, which informs the student body of the activities of their leaders.

The Executive Board and Sister Carmen, the moderator, convene for a fruitful discussion on school problems.

Religious Clubs Promote Dwenger Ideals.

Religion-orientated organizations provide Bishop Dwenger students with an opportunity to fulfill their individual needs not only as a person, but as a Christian human being. These clubs further the students' interests in the Christian attitudes, which are fostered at Bishop Dwenger.

The Sodality, moderated by Sr. Ruth Anne and Fr. Kline, provides the student with an opportunity to become aware of the needs of their fellow human beings.

The Theresians, guided by Sr. Eleanora, promotes vocations to the religious life.

The C.S.M.C., directed by Sr. Angelene and Fr. Kauffman, promotes student mission support.

Prepare Students for Careers.

While he is still in high school, it is important for the student to look ahead and plan for his future in the best possible way. It is necessary for each one to be cognizant of this fact and anticipate a specific goal for life early in his high school career. Organizations which cater to career-minded students are available at B.D.

Two such organizations exist which are designed to help their members decide upon a course of action which may aid them to make a decision in attaining these goals.

The Future Teachers of America is such a club. Its members include those students who are interested in the pursuit of a teaching career and hope to discover something about it. Members of the FTA pursue activities such as tutoring, the visiting of certain schools, and absorbing ideas which enable them to decide to begin studies towards their goals.

Another career-oriented club is the Future Nurses of America, an organization with the sole purpose of acquainting students with the opportunities available to them in the world of practical and registered nursing, as well as in medical technology. Officers for the 1967-1968 school year were Valerie Germann, President; Angie Smith, Vice-president; Suzanne Welch, treasurer and Ellen Federspiel, secretary. These officers proved to be active and interested.

Service Clubs and Honor Organizations Furnish Fulfillment.

Bishop Dwenger provides organizations which furnish the students with a chance to fulfill themselves through service.

National Honor Society promotes a search for academic excellence.

Z-Club and Key Club prepares Dwenger students for a future of service to their fellowmen. Among the many activities which were undertaken were work at St. Anne's Home and bonfire preparations, respectively.

Newspaper Reports All.

Bishop Dwenger's Golden Trumpet which has this year received an All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association, has been a vital source of information to the student body. The publication of a newspaper requires hours of effort and a skilled, willing staff. Trumpet editors have devoted much time and energy in the editing of a superior student publication, so that the students and all interested readers may be well-informed of all "happenings."

Under the able leadership of two well-trained advisers, Sister Alberta and Sister Myra, the publication has provided much enjoyment as well as valuable information through its timely editorials, its features on vital issues and its general school news.

Right: Because he is the chief photographer of the Yearbook Staff, Jeff Gibson has a tremendous responsibility in taking and developing pictures of Dwengerites busy with their activities. He has to be at school, games, and dances at just the right minute in order to capture treasured moments. The rest of the Yearbook Staff realizes how irreplaceable Jeff really is.

Aureate Staff Devotes Time and Effort.

Moderated by Sister Angelene, adviser, the yearbook staff works diligently from October until June to put out the best yearbook Dwenger has ever had. Darlene Gladieux, editor, and Barb Fox, assistant editor, struggle painfully through the year to get the best results possible. Many people do not realize the strenuous efforts that go into a yearbook. They spent many long afternoons and nights doing the tedious work that calls for the staff to work together in complete harmony. No matter how hard all labor there is always the constant struggle to meet the next looming deadline.

The yearbooks activities center mainly around the vicinity of the art room, which is usually full of the many "faithfuls" in attendance. The yearbook has helped many people in many ways.

Dwenger's Band Is "Sound-Spectacular."

Under the direction of Mr. Richard Brown and Dwenger's Drum Major, Dave Chandler, the blaring brass, rich percussion and the mild woods create a harmony that B.D. is proud to claim. Beginning early in September, the band members get into the "groove" of daily practice. They master their marching drills and work for their spectacular sound.

Throughout the year, the band performs at home games and at many of the assemblies of the school year. Truly the band helps give Dwenger the spirit for which it is so well known.

Twirlers Demonstrate Their Abilities.

Everyone knows that a home game isn't complete without its half time entertainment. At Bishop Dwenger this is provided by the twirlers. Spectators, who have little knowledge of the long, tedious hours which go into each performance, were delighted with these excellent showings. On field or floor every presentation was in itself a unique experience with the special added touch of the feature twirler, Barb Fox. Under the supervision of talented co-ordinators, Stephanie Krantz and Barb Fox, the twirling team strove for new and better ideas with perfected routines.

Twirling for Freshman Orientation and marching in the Memorial Day Parade are additional performances of the year.

Combined Concert Initiates Talent.

Appearing for the first time in 1964, Bishop Dwenger's first orchestra consisted of a very small group of students, freshmen and sophomores who were willing and eager to produce, but who had much to gain in maturity of tone and quality of sound. The 1967-1968 school year found the orchestra's membership boosted to a larger number of mature musicians who were able to produce fine music for many occasions. At the combined concert, the orchestra was especially commended for its fine renditions, for it was at this time and in this circumstance that the entire student body realized how far the orchestra had come under the leadership of Mrs. Delana Levy who had this year accepted the responsibility of its direction.

THE MUSIC MAN, the school's annual musical, produced in conjunction with the drama department, also proved the ability and versatility of this renewed and improved part of the music at B.D.

Versatility Reigns.

The squad of cheerleaders for the 1967-68 school-year season was voted in by the entire Student Body, after displaying their talents. At all times the varsity cheerleaders were responsible for keeping the spirit up in backing the football and basketball teams. With the help of Mrs. Kathleen Myers, the group's moderator, they each contributed ideas and came up with unique pep rallies, involving students from each class. They did more than their part in helping the football team win the city title and encouraging the basketball team during the Sectionals.

The Junior Varsity squad faithfully attended each game and cheered both their teams on to winning seasons. They, too, helped with the rallies and did all they could for spirit.

Although new to the school, the freshmen cheerleaders showed a tremendous amount of spirit and co-operation. The squad itself shows promising talent for the years to come.

The Student Body expresses congratulations and a special thanks for a job well done.

Seniors Succeed with the Crucible.

The senior class singled out the most gifted dramatists to bring the witchcraft of Salem Village to the Dwenger stage. THE CRUCIBLE was produced and directed by Sister Chantal and Mr. Michael Thompson. The main character in the play, John Proctor, played by Jeff Gibson, displayed vibrancy as well as courage. The rest of the townspeople gave their opinions of him—some in agreement but the majority in disagreement with his ideas. Besides the undaunted efforts of the cast, hard work went into the programs, publicity, costumes, make-up and scenery.

THE CAST

Betty Paris	Marianne Anderson	Rebecca Nurse	Donna Lou Schaefer
Rev. Samuel Parris	Jim Davis	Giles Corey	Mark Butters
Tituba	Jane Ostman	Rev. John Hale	Mike Gee
Abigail Williams	Judy Schevtchuk	Elizabeth Proctor	Stephanie Ringswald
Susanna Wallcott	Jill Patterson	Francis Nurse	Richard Popp
Mrs. Ann Putnam	Mary McKenzie	Ezekiel Cheever	Ed Parrot
Thomas Putnam	Kevin Kearney	Marshal Willard	Tim Shields
Mercy Lewis	Valerie Germann	Judge Hathorne	John Wernet
Mary Warren	Barbara Fox	Deputy-Governor Danforth	Dick Sparks
John Proctor	Jeff Gibson	Sarah Good	Carolyn Till

Far left: John Proctor (Jeff Gibson) and Mary Warren (Barb Fox) make an earnest plea for the innocence of his wife.
Left: Judy Schevtchuk, playing Abigale Williams, scorns at attempt by Deputy-Governor Danforth to reconsider her testimony.
Upper right: Forceful, dynamic and projective describe Jeff Gibson as he portrays the controversial John Proctor.
Above: As the tension mounts, the feeling in the small court room is strong with contempt.

Far right: Immediately before the crowning, an atmosphere of hearts and flowers is created by the dancing court as an admiring, excited crowd looks on.

Right: After working on a decorative heart, Jean Savage triumphantly pulls her creation to life.

Cupid Visits Saints.

Dwenger kept right in the mood of the hearts and flowers of February by having their annual Valentine Dance midway through the month. The Student Body took direct action by voting for the court and consequently for the queen. The cafeteria changed from "rags to riches" the afternoon of the dance, by adding flowers, hearts, paper, and paint. That night, Cupid "made the scene" and gathered all the students together for an enchanting event. Char Houck won the fame and glory of reigning over all the "Valentines" of the evening.

Above: Seemingly absorbed in decorating and trying to make those flowers perfect are: Susie D'Angelo, Carol Kast, and Jan Bolinger.

Dwenger Actors Are Successful with The Music Man.

Each year, the Dwenger Saints combine their talent to present a Spring musical. The best actors and the most gifted musicians join together, with exceeding spirit to "show off" and entertain their audiences. Under the direction of Mr. Michael Thompson and Sister M. Chantal, P.H.J.C., the cast learned their lines and actions perfectly. Also the orchestra, under the supervision of Mrs. Delana Levy, played each note and measure with a sounding tone. The Saints proved that "practice makes perfect" by coming to the gym daily beginning three months before the play.

Besides Jeff Gibson and Lynn Coman, many of the other characters deserve praise. The quartet added a touch of melodious humor to the play while Dick Sparks made a perfect Mayor Shinn. Tommy Dijilas (Mark Vernon) did a life-like job of courting Zannetta Shinn; (Meg Mettler).

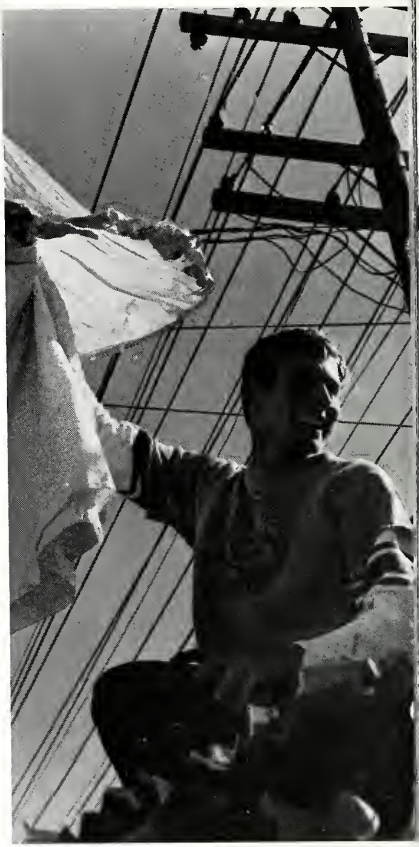
Left: Lynn Coman, acting as Marian the Librarian, displays her complete distrust in Harold Hill, portrayed by Jeff Gibson. She thinks he is totally "too friendly."

Below: Jane Ostman, being a typical Eulalie Mackecknie Shinn, leads Sharon Reiling in their fourth of July presentation of the local tribe of Indians. The townspeople in the background are amazed with their talent.

Right: Jeff Gibson does an excellent job as Harold Hill, convincing the River City townspeople that they are all in "serious trouble" and should do something about their new pool table.

Far Below: The cast of The Music Man has mixed feelings: some are smiling with eager anticipation while others are a bit on the somber side. Yet, all in all, the cast has a lot to be proud of and thankful for in their presentation.



First Homecoming Presents Honors to Queen and Court.

During the 1967-68 school year, Dwenger began the tradition of having an annual Homecoming event. Before the awaited night, students were busy erecting a float, with well-known "friends" represented on it. Also, the school bustled with excitement about who was to be queen. Plans and preparations were made for the dance and crowning procedures.

Following the victory over the Luers "Knights", and the display of the meaningful float, the gym became a palace for the new queen, Jane Dehner, and her court. The 1967 graduates returned to B.D. with reminiscence and wistful eyes.

All in all, the Saints' first Homecoming was successful and enjoyable.

Far left: "Sandy" Sanborn crowns the happy queen Jane Dehner after the homecoming victory over Luers. From a previously chosen court, Jane was elected queen by majority vote.

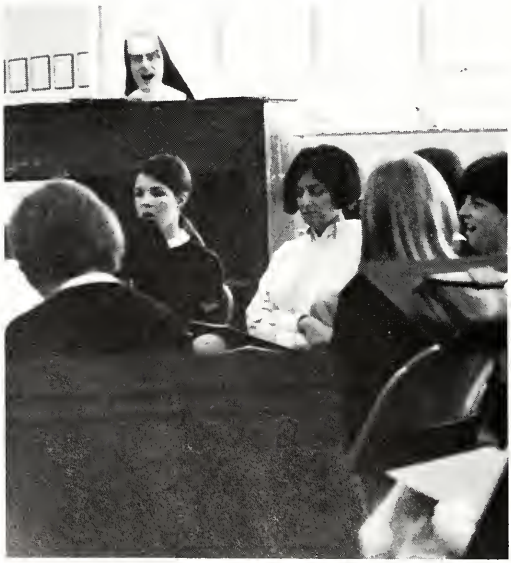
Above: The float, having "Tuffy" the Saint, a Luers "Knight", a C.C. "Leprechaun", a Snider "Panther", and a New Haven "Bulldog" adds a finishing touch to the atmosphere.

Choral Groups Display Musical Talent.



The chorus, once of gigantic proportions, has dwindled somewhat in number this year. Quality, however, seems to make up for quantity, since the comparatively small number of vocalizers renders music fit for any occasion.

During the course of the school year, student groups sang at several of the area institutions. Veterans' Administration Hospital, Irene Byron Sanitarium, St. Joseph Hospital and St. Ann's Home were some of the places visited. The Christmas Season also presented a challenge when several choral groups sang at special programs.

The greatest musical feat of the year proved to be the production of THE MUSIC MAN, in which individual students, as well as chorus members had an opportunity to display their talent. All the students in this "world of music" found satisfaction and joy in using their voices to foster joy.

Junior Day

Above: After the blessing, the class rings are ready to be distributed to their new junior owners who patiently and excitedly await them.

Far Right: To start off Junior Day, the entire class and the student body gather together for a festive, con-celebrated Mass in the spacious gym. Parents also attend.

Right: As Father Krason offers the class ring with his warm congratulations, junior Mary Beth Feichter smiles her acceptance and her thank you.

A Long-Awaited Event Finally Arrives.

Traditionally held each May, Junior Day is the most important celebration the students experience during their third year at Bishop Dwenger. This annual affair consists of a Morning con-celebrated Mass, after which the class rings are blessed and distributed. Following this ceremony various activities take place, such as this year's brunch, and a picnic. At the end of the day is the grand finale—the Junior Dance. It is truly a day for rejoicing, since Junior Day marks the true acceptance of the class into Bishop Dwenger. Students may then wear the school's special insignia. The gold ring with its bright, golden sapphire and its delicate, meaningful engravings, is a sign of each student's dedication to the school. It is like prelude or introduction into a final step of development, the senior year. It is a sign of real maturity.

Jane Deppen Reigns with Poise and Beauty.

To the strains of "Try To Remember," Jane Deppen reigned as queen of this year's Senior Prom. Her court, elected by the senior class, included, Ellen Federspiel escorted by Bill Neizer, Chris Hohman accompanied by Chuck Gabet, Linda Shive escorted by Gerry Gabet, Marianne Anderson attending with Dick Sparks, and Mary Larene Keller accompanied by Gene Raymond.

Joe Voors, as treasurer of the senior class, crowned Jane Queen of the Senior Prom.

The queen, who received the largest number of senior votes, remarked, "I've never had anything this special happen to me. I only hope that everybody was happy with their choice.

Left: Reigning queen, Jane Deppen, portrays beauty and poise.

Linda Shive, Ellen Federspiel, Chris Hohman, Mary Larene Keller, and Marianne Anderson portray loveliness and dignity.

"Try to Remember" Highlights End of Year.

Amid chiffon, lace and the scent of spring flowers, the Senior Prom of 1968 whirled through the night of May 24, and into the early morning. Under a canopy of flowered streamers, designed by the junior class, the seniors danced to the music of the Earl Zimmerman Band and the prom theme, "Try To Remember."

The Moose Lodge, scene of the formal, welcomed its guests at 8:00 and reverberated with laughter and music until midnight. From there the waltz changed to the shing-a-ling at the after-prom dance and brunch held at the Hobby Ranch House. The Pillsbury Flower deafened the crowd until 3 in the morning. As Saturday's dawn lit the skies, weary seniors headed for home with memories for years to come.

Center: Couples reminisce about high school days, as others take advantage of the delightful music provided by the Earl Zimmerman Band.

Far upper left: Prom Queen, Jane Deppen, and Bill Wolters, her escort, lead the Court in dancing to the theme song, "Try To Remember."

Far left: Cookies and punch provide nourishment for Stan Mahrt and his date, Karen Fenton.

Seniors Receive Honors at Assembly.

On May 29, 1968, the Senior Class of '68 participated in a special Awards Day program. At this time the student body watched in awe as many recipients approached the stage where Father Krason presented them with their respective scholarships. Besides these scholastic honors, awards were given to students who displayed outstanding achievement in leadership or service. Some certificates of merit were the Christian Leadership Trophies, the Yearbook Achievement recognition. Serra Club presentation, Sertoma Award, Z Club certificates and home economics citations as well as Home Nursing certificates.

Not pictured here, but a very important day was held in St. Charles Church where the entire class marked the beginning of the end, as they participated in the Celebration of the Baccalaureate Mass followed by the annual banquet. The entire day was a memorable one.

Commencement Produces Tears and Joy.

Dwenger's Second Annual Commencement Exercises on May 31 closed the doors on the seniors' four years of high school.

The main speaker of the evening, Very Reverend Walter J. Ziemba of Orchard Lake Seminary in Detroit urged the seniors to become involved in and committed to the life of the world. Following this address, Father Krason, assisted by Sister Hedwigis and Father Kline, conferred diplomas on the 188 graduating seniors.

Salutatorian Richard Sparks and valedictorian Mary Sue Ueber also addressed the seniors and the assembled audience, after which the graduates sang the finale, "You'll Never Walk Alone."

The people of Fort Wayne stopped laughing at Bishop Dwenger this year when the spirited Saints won six of seven city games to clinch a city title for the first time in Dwenger history. Through hard hitting and tough football the mobile, hostile, and agile Saints showed their competitors that in all respects Dwenger is number one.

Even though the Saints had to share the title with Concordia, the Saints showed their superiority by defeating the Cadets twice during the gridiron season. In the Jamboree the Saints beat the Cadets 6 to 0 and during the season again the Saints outscored the Cadets by a margin of 21 to 12.

Below: Jerry Gabet scores the clinching touchdown to beat Elmhurst 12 to 0.

Rugged Saints Show Superiority

Of the eleven starting players of the Dwenger offense, four were all-city and the remaining were honorable mention. Phil Sanborn was also elected all-state tackle and Jerry Gabet was an all-state honorable mention halfback.

One of the important factors in the winning season was the coaching staff which included Coach Haag, Coach Bart, and Coach Titzer. They helped to instill the desire, spirit, and pride needed for victory. These three men, along with forty enthusiastic Saints devoted themselves to one purpose, and that was to put Dwenger on top. So with a winning tradition begun, the Saints' fans can look forward to more victorious seasons.

Defensive Team FIRST ROW: Mike Arata, Joe Sweeney, Mark Racine, Dave Kieffer, John Okleshen, Phil Sanborn, Bill Niezer. SECOND ROW: Mike Nancarrow, Bill Sullivan, Pat Herman, Ed Cochran.

In a victorious season for the Varsity team, the Junior Varsity play an important role. Coached by Mr. Titzer, the Junior Varsity was able to have just as successful a season as the Varsity by winning six games and tying two.

The Freshmen, guided by Coach Ray, finished with a winning record of four wins and three loses. With a successful start the Freshmen have the potential of being a great squad.

Dwenger Fairwaymen Warm Up to a New Season.

Golf, a warm weather sport, is one of the most frustrating sports in existence. In playing golf one is not only competing against the other players but one is competing, also, against himself in his never ending struggle to keep his score to the least number of strokes. Bishop Dwenger's golf team was guided and coached this year by Coach John Titzer. Coach Titzer helps the players during moments of tension and frustration with a friendly smile and a word of advice.

Cross Country Prepares Saints for Life.

Cross country, an autumn sport, is partly overshadowed by football. Although cross country does not have very many avid followers it is a very challenging and competitive sport. The Bishop Dwenger cross country team was led this year by Coach George Waning and Captain Pat Buescher. Coach Waning encouraged and instilled the harriers during the meets and guided the runners through hard practices in preparation for the Sectional. In the Sectional Bishop Dwenger was able to defeat five other local teams. Unlike a team sport a cross country runner must depend solely on himself to be a winner. Exemplified in cross country, an outstanding athlete needs to inculcate the six words signified in the letters of the word DESIRE. It takes Dedication and Effort to endure the practices and training. It takes Sincerity and Initiative to be true to oneself in his endeavor. Finally, it takes Reason and Enthusiasm. These characteristics of desire prepare athletes for the world of sports as well as the world of tomorrow.

Through good hustle and team effort this year, the Saints enjoyed a relatively successful season. Although their season record was nine wins and eleven losses, they progressed to the final game in the sectional, enabling them to finish the season with an overall record of eleven wins and twelve losses.

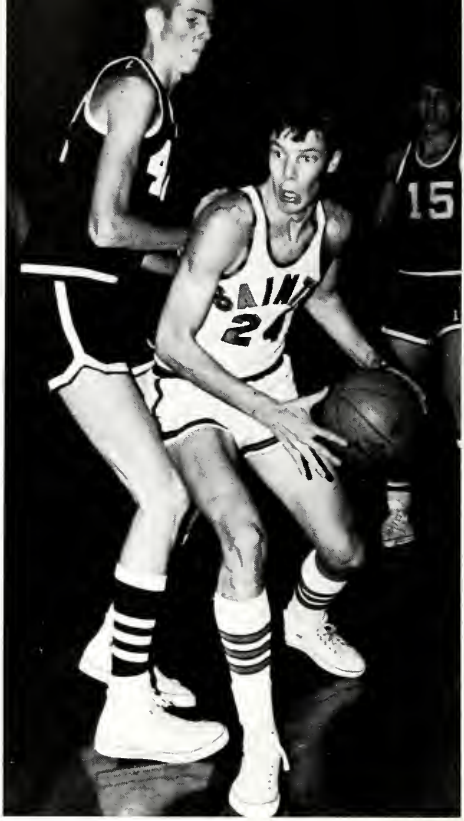
Below: The Saint's big men position themselves for rebound.
Right: Through teamwork Ed Humphrey and Joe Voors score two.

The Saints were led by Captains Joe Voors and Steve Fisher.



Tall as Ed Humphrey may be, he looks pretty short next to his opponent.

Dwenger advances to final game in sectional.

Joe was always near the action, either Joe Voors or Joe Sweeney.

The Saints were led by Coach George Waning, who with the help of Captains Steve Fisher and Joe Voors, instilled the hustle and determination needed to get the Saints through the season. One of the factors that hurt Dwenger was the lack of experience. This year three Juniors and a sophomore broke into the starting lineup. So with the needed experience acquired, Dwenger can look forward to a more successful season next year.

Ehrman Clocks Fastest Time in State.

Bishop Dwenger's track team kept right in style with all the other school's outstanding teams this year by being one of the top city contenders for the track crown. Coach Bucky Haag, who was assisted by Coach Don Snow, pushed the runners to new records in the dashes, the distance events, and the field events. The runner who helped to bring the most fame to Bishop Dwenger this track season was Mike Erhman. During the season Mike ran the 100 yard dash in 9.6 seconds and the 220 yard dash in 21.3 seconds. Mike was recognized nationally this year by the Associated Press, because of his great speed.

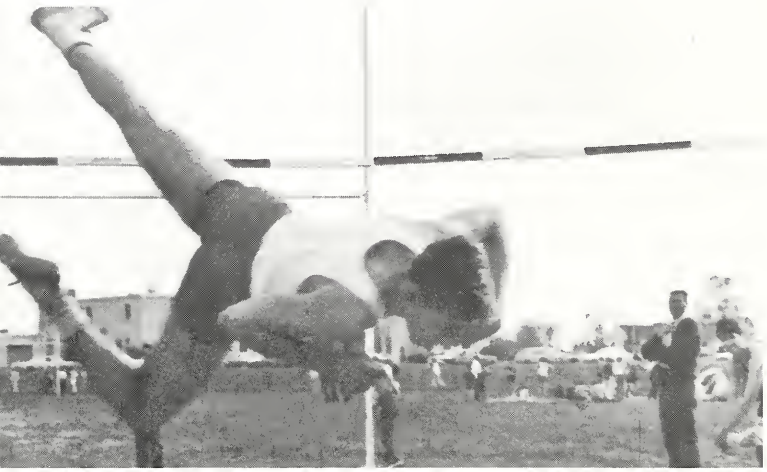
Junior Varsity Equals Success of Varsity.



Track is a sport in which a person's size is no determining factor for his greatness. If a person has the determination to win, then he can advance quickly. Many underclassmen this year took this challenge to be great and made the varsity team. With this competition within the team, the underclassmen pushed the varsity runners to faster times, and in doing so, pushed themselves to faster times. Through working with the varsity, the junior varsity was able to follow in their footsteps with a winning season. The Freshmen, led by Coach Ray, also began their struggle to equal the success and accomplishment of the varsity.

Senior Antics Portray Personality.

A Year of Activities Completed, with Its Varied Successes and Failures.

The End Buds Forth into a New Beginning, a New Time of Life.

We, the 1968 AUREATE STAFF, would like to thank all of those who have been so much help in compiling this book.

We have tried to do our best in the formulation of a book which will bring credit to Bishop Dwenger, not only as a book of fond memories, but also as an example of the journalistic character which it should portray.

The Staff extends a special thanks to Father Krason for giving us permission to disrupt the organized daily routine for the purpose of taking pictures.

The Faculty also deserves a hearty thank you for their cooperation when classes were interrupted so that Jeff Gibson could take the necessary pictures.

The Student Body also merits a vote of thanks for allowing us to use them as the main characters in this book.

Sister Angelene, our Adviser, deserves an extra special note of thanks for her untiring efforts in aiding the Staff on hectic deadline nights, and the moral support she gave to all Staff members.

Without all of these people, we would have had a book full of empty pages. We hope that we have given you something, which will recall the colorful pages in your life at Bishop Dwenger, not the blank sheets.

Sincerely,
The Aureate Staff of 1968
